EASTER SERVICES.

ST. ROSE OF LIMA CHURCH.

The Easter services at St. Rose of Lima church were unusually beautiful; the music and singing breathing the very joy of the Savior's triumph.

The C. M. B. A. received Holy Communion in a body. The society presented an imposing appearance with the splendid regalia of the order. The sermon at this service was on the text: "Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified; he is risen, he is not here."

High mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock. The choir, under the able direction of Professor Rossbach, had prepared Mercantile's mass, and the rendition was faultless. The "Regina Coeli" was sung at the offertory, and "Strike the Cymbal" at the end of the service.

The sermon was suggested by the nature of the feast: "The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the grave the foundation of our faith." The speaker said: The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the grave is the most glorious of all his miracles, the one to which he referred most frequently in proof of his Divine Messiahship, and the supernatural character of his work. The glory and the divinity which had been hid in the crucifixion gloom of Calvary shine forth resplendent from this miraculous resurrection. He suddenly appears like another Joseph from his prison to command the whole world, and to impart to his faithful brethren every blessing; he comes forth like another Moses to show himself not only the God of Pharaoh, but the God of the living and the dead; he comes forth like another Samson carrying away in triumph the strong gates of his enemies. The speaker then proceeded to solidly establish this central dogma of all Christians, that dogma of which St. Paul says, that if it be false our preaching is vain, and we are found bearing false testimony. He said: The resurrection of Jesus Christ is a historical fact, and like all historical facts must be proven by witnesses. These witnesses are many in number, and capable of bearing conclusive evidence. We shall show that they are slow in believing, yet almost obstinate; that they themselves were not deceived, nor did they deceive others; and when once convinced, that they were loud in their preaching, sealing the truth thereof with their blood. In fine our evidence will be such that none can be advanced more solid and conclusive for any historical fact, whether sacred or profane. The witnesses were then impeached and their testimony critically examined. The old objection, that whilst the guard was asleep the Apostles came and stole the body was found to be false from every point of view. He concluded by exhorting all Christians to courageously profess this sublime truth before the world, and shape our lives accordingly. We will believe this truth believed by so many countless millions. And the words: "He is risen, he is not here," first incarnated on the lips of an angel, words repeated by the hermits, words purpled with the blood of martyrs, words of comfort to man in all his afflictions, but especially in the closing scenes of his earthly career—these words shall also be ours; they shall be the foundation of our faith and our hope, until that faith will blossom into reality and our hope into everlasting fruition.

In the afternoon the Easter services closed with Vespers and Benediction. The Easter offering was a most liberal one, amounting to $151.49.

FROM THE TROLLEY.
Auditor Brockway enjoys jokes as well as anybody and he had an opportunity to laugh a few days since. While conversing with a traveling man concerning the towns of Maumee and Perrysburg, the traveler said—"Well, there is one thing Maumee has, which Perrysburg has not." "What is it?" innocently inquired Mr. B. "The other end of the bridge," said the traveler. Mr. B. has been taking electric baths ever since and declares he will give that man a shock that will upset him next time they meet.

Conductor Browne is taking a vacation for a few days during which time he will visit his former home in Bryan where he has friends who will gladly welcome him. Of course we don't know why, but the street car employees are getting ready to give him a cordial reception and serenade when he returns to Perrysburg.

MARRIED.
HUFFORD—FOSTER.—April 18th, by Rev. J. N. Steffani, Robert J. Hufford and Sarah M. Foster.

The ceremony uniting the above mentioned people was conducted at the home of Mr. Hufford on Easter Sunday and was witnessed by the near relatives of the contracting parties.

They are popular young people and have a host of friends who extend best wishes for a future of happiness and prosperity.

SCOTT—PFEIFER.—April 20th, by Rev. J. N. Steffani, George M. Scott and Miss Amelia Pfeifer, at the home of the bride in Toledo.

WALNUT ST. PRESBYTERIAN.
Easter services at the Walnut St. Presbyterian church were rendered as per programme published in the JOURNAL last week. The music by the regular choir was excellent and well rendered. The whole service was a unity from beginning to end, appropriate and interesting, the risen living Savior felt to be present in accord with his promise. The flower decorations afforded an intimation of new and pleasing life set forth in the service.

The children of the Sunday School received with pleasure the brightly colored Easter eggs now so generally distributed on Easter day.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.
The Easter services at the First Presbyterian church Easter morning, brought out, not only a large, but a very attentive congregation. The entire service from beginning to end seemed to be appreciated by all. As we stated last week the entire programme was arranged so that it could be truly said, it was a service "leading us to deeper thought in the obligations we are under to the Risen Christ." In the very beginning when the concealed voices sang "when morning gilds the skies" there came over the congregation a reverential "quiet silence," as every one listened with all their power to grasp the words; then followed anthem after anthem especially fitted to the character of the day; this was for the choir but the congregation was not forgotten for they gave in a very effective manner that ever loved hymn, "How calm and beautiful the morn", also the Easter hymn, Christ the Lord is risen to-day, to the grand old tune of Mozart.

The sermon by Mr. Adams upon the sign given as to the rising of Christ from the dead, was one of Mr. Adams' best efforts, but we ask that we may forever carry with us the impression made by that beautiful dismissal hymn, "Saviour again to thy dear name we raise", with all the congregation with bowed heads the choir sang this beautiful reverential hymn, so quietly, so respectful, that it truly was a benediction sent by a loving Risen Christ to his people through those gifted in melody and verse.

UNION SERVICES.
What has been said as to the First Presbyterian services can truly be said of the evening services at the Methodist church.

The church was full from platform even to sidewalk, people even sitting on the outside steps and fully as many turned away as got in. As crowded and uncomfortable as it was all remained to close of service.

It was a union service of the Methodist and First and Walnut Street Presbyterian churches, but Mr. Bailey was the only clergyman present and had charge of the services.

One marked feature of both services was the readings in explanation of the hymns sung, as to the author, his character and the condition of the times in which he wrote, and the association of those times and conditions with our day and its wants; also the direct connecting of anthem and the scriptural quotation upon which it was founded; these are new features in our services and a very acceptable and valuable one, leading us to think of and investigate more closely the events that influenced our hymn writers in their work.

The programmes for these two services were prepared by and the music rehearsed and rendered under the direction of Mr. Chas. W. Hamilton, who is acknowledged as a very skillful conductor of choral societies. Many of the beautiful features of the programmes were original ideas of his own and he is entitled to much credit for the excellence of the Easter services. The members of the choirs have reason to be proud of the success which crowned their efforts on this occasion.

Death at Stony Ridge.
Daniel Snyder, an old and respected citizen of Troy township, died Saturday night, after a few days illness. Death was the result of an abscess of the stomach, and old age, he being 80 years old at the time of his death. The funeral services were conducted at his late home by Rev. Born, and the remains were entered in the Luckey cemetery.

STONY RIDGE.

April 20.—Easter services were observed in both the Lutheran and M. E. churches Sunday.

We are glad to say that Mrs. M. Cole, who has been quite sick the past week with chances of her recovery doubtful, is now getting along nicely and is considered out of danger.

Daniel Snyder, another of Wood county's old and respected citizens, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jacob Metzger, Saturday evening.

The deceased contracted a severe cold, and together with his advanced age was the cause of his death. He was over 78 years of age.

J. D. Weaver just completed the water well for J. W. Waggoner's new grist mill and elevator and J. D. says it's a gusher.

Sam Shook has decided to give up gardening, as he had formerly anticipated and go into the wholesale rat business. Sam caught ten rats in a trap with one haul and says he expects to start to China with a car load soon.

We noticed an article in the Democrat a couple of weeks ago, which reflected somewhat on our old friend Mr. Henry. The article leads us naturally to think that the Democrat's correspondent at Stony Ridge is apt to stretch the truth wonderfully. However it is reported that the supposed correspondent was seen passing through town last week with a small hand satchel containing all his worldly goods and effects. He was accompanied by a colored valet and it is presumed was working his way through to Cuba to write a history of the rebellion there.

E. F. Metzger closed his winter term of school in joint district No. 9 Perrysburg township last Saturday, and can now be found at the old stand dealing out 13 1/2-cent stamps for a cent and a quarter. We are not able to say what will be done with our old friend and assistant postmaster S. E. Waggoner, but according to the Democrat correspondent's statement of this place in a recent issue, Slimness and Ponderosity will still handle the mails between the Postoffice and T. & O. C. depot. Rowe says he is not at all afraid of himself or the Deputy Post Master getting a sun stroke as the above correspondent claimed might happen them, but would advise that the Democrat's correspondent of this place keep in the cool as he is already afflicted with softening of the brain and should it happen, a turn warm he would likely spin quickly.

Oil Fire at Haskins.
J. G. Watts was drilling a well on the Jake Bauer property in Haskins. On Monday, when about three feet in the sand and the odor of gas was detected. The order was given to extinguish fires but before it could be done the well began flowing and the oil and gas being ignited, a conflagration resulted in which the entire rig was consumed. The well is supposed to be a good one, and Mr. Watts' loss is considerable.

A Deal in Oil.

A. R. Williams of Perrysburg has purchased the interests of W. B. and W. J. Nolin in the Little Lima Oil Co. The property consists of 60 acres of oil land in Portage township in the Six Point district on which is located eight wells, all of which are good producers. Mr. Williams is a very successful operator and owns some very valuable oil leases.
